

Practice Group data & technology

Digitalisation, technology and intellectual property have become an integral part of every company. Our data & technology practice group supports you in mastering the challenges of today and tomorrow.

Our specialist fields

IT-Law

From the procurement and tendering of software to the development and distribution of software – we understand IT-business and agile processes.

E-Commerce & Digital Markets

Digital markets are the markets of the future. We advise you on business development, draft legal documents and contracts for your company, and have expertise in e-commerce, digital services, and digital markets.

Data & Data Privacy

We assist you with all matters related to data protection law and provide advice that delivers concrete results and actionable recommendations.

Compliance & Cyber Security

Compliance is critical to the success and integrity of your business. Our team develops effective compliance programs tailored to your specific needs.

Digitalization & Artificial Intelligence

We advise you on implementing digital transformation strategies, digitizing existing business processes, and integrating and using artificial intelligence in your company in a legally compliant manner.

Intellectual Property

Your creativity has significant economic value. We ensure that your intellectual property remains protected and is not used unlawfully by third parties.
